Hope, Help & Support

As concussion occurrence in youth sports has grown to epidemic proportions, BIAG has developed new programs through the Georgia Concussion Coalition to directly address the need for greater concussion awareness and prevention. We also work to help families coping with long-term concussion recovery.

You are not alone

The Brain Injury Association of Georgia (BIAG) is a statewide non-profit organization dedicated to improving the quality of life for people with brain injury and their families through education, awareness, advocacy, prevention and support services.

As medical treatment, safety and trauma care advance, more people survive brain injury than ever before, but then face a lifetime of physical, behavioral and cognitive impairments requiring ongoing support services. BIAG's Certified Brain Injury Specialist and other subject matter experts are here to connect families coping with brain injury with the vital resources they need to navigate the lifelong road from injury to rehabilitation to recovery and beyond.

BIAG has served as the voice of Georgia's brain injury community since 1982 and remains the only organization of its kind in the state. BIAG's membership is comprised of survivors, caregivers, volunteers, and health care professionals who are working together to provide Hope, Help and Support to Georgians affected by brain injury. BIAG is an affiliate of the Brain Injury Association of America, which offers a national network of resources to our members.

Funding for BIAG's programs and services comes from the generosity of our constituents and supporters. BIAG is a registered 501(c)3 organization, so donations supporting our mission are tax deductible as allowed by law.
